CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

We are part of the University of Cambridge

We work closely with other University departments, such as the research and teaching departments and Cambridge Assessment, to advance knowledge, learning and research.

1534

Cambridge University Press is the oldest university press. We were founded through 'Letters Patent', similar to a Royal Charter, granted to the University by Henry VIII in 1534.

50 offices around the world

2,845

colleagues worldwide

57%

outside the UK

We consist of three publishing groups

Academic publishing
which publishes research books, advanced learning materials and reference content as well as nearly 400 journals.

English Language Teaching
which publishes materials for both students and adult learners.

Education
which provides teaching materials for schools around the world and advises governments on educational reform.

Cambridge University Press has published over

170

Nobel Laureates in its books, journals and the journals of its partners.

64

Nobel Prize winners have had books published by Cambridge including William Nordhaus, winner of the 2018 Nobel Prize for Economics.

Cambridge Dictionary is the number one dictionary website for learners on the planet, with close to

2 billion
